1947 PICKAWAY COUNTY FAIR ENDS TONIGHT

Public To Vote On Children's Home Improvement

THREE-MILL TAX LEVY PLACED ON COUNTY BALLOT

Commissioners Certify Bill To Election Board For November Voting

Voters at the Nov. 4 election will ballot on the question of a special 3-mill tax levy on all taxable real estate in Circleville and Pickaway county to finance needed improvements to and enlargement of the Pickaway county children's home.

Provision for the referendum was made in a resolution which was adopted at a special meeting of the board of county commissioners and the resolution was certified Friday afternoon to the board of elections.

It bears the signatures of Commissioners John B. Keller, Wayne A. Hoover and Lyman E. Penn, all three members of the board of commissioners having attended the special meeting.

THE 3-MILL levy is the equivalent of $3 per $1,000 of taxable property and such a tax, according to County Auditor, Fred L. Dipton, is calculated to bring revenues totaling $150,000.

Declaring the necessity of building an addition to the children's home the resolution says the county's general revenue fund now has insufficient cash for that purpose and proposes the referendum at the November election on the proposal of a 3-mill levy outside the 10-mill limitation.

The special tax levy—if approved by the voters—would be levied for one year only, namely 1948.

COOL WEATHER ON WAY HERE, FORECASTS SAY

By International News Service

A pleasant weekend, marred only by scattered showers and thundershowers, was forecast today for Ohio.

The cool air mass which moved into the state last night was expected to keep temperatures down, probably ending for the season the mercury dashes into the high 80's.

Forecaster William McMurray said that the cooler conditions should become drier tomorrow, but added that nothing drastic either way was anticipated.

Generally fair weather with little change in temperature was predicted for tomorrow, to be followed by scattered afternoon and night showers.

Chesapeake failed to shake the top temperature recorded for the state as the mercury went above the 90-degree mark by two degrees yesterday. Elsewhere the readings went no higher than an 89 at Cincinnati and an 88 at Wilmington.

A 40-mile wind hit Columbus yesterday afternoon with heavy rain. Trees were felled by the blasts and electric lines also were blown down to tie up rush-hour traffic.

In Cincinnati, a similar storm struck, resulting in three traffic accidents, according to police. The downpour caused the Little Miami river to rise four feet at Loveland.

15-YEAR-OLD GIRL HURT WHEN AUTO HITS BIKE

Norma Jean Stevens, 15, of 214 West Huston street, was slightly injured at 10:30 a. m. Saturday when the bicycle she rode was struck at Court and Main streets by an auto which police said was driven by a Navy man, Cletus Kuhn, 21, 364 Town street, who is attached to the naval station at Norfolk, Va.

Kuhn took the girl to Berger hospital where her hurts were pronounced not serious.

Gene Abbe And Snappy Kate Turn In Fast Times At Fairgrounds

Sixteen heats of harness racing with plenty of thrills were promised horse fans Saturday afternoon at the Pickaway county fairgrounds—if there is no more rain.

Saturday morning the track was in good shape and crews of workmen were busy getting it in even better condition.

Two heats of each of Friday's features will be run off during the afternoon.

RAIN WASHED out the Friday program after one heat of each race had been run and two new track records set.

Gene Abbe, owned and driven by Harry Short, Columbus, streaked around the track in the first race, a 2:18 pace with $1,000 prize, in 2:05 2-5 a new pace record for the track and the fastest time the horse ever made.

In the third race "Snappy Kate", owned by Frank Junk and Sons, Washington C. H., and driven by Frank Lanum, trotted the mile in 2:06 2-5, a new trot record for the track and the mare's fastest time. She ran almost by herself in the $500 added 2:17 trot but kept going hard all the way.

LEWIS BLOCKS AFL COMPLIANCE WITH LABOR LAW

CHICAGO, Sept. 13—More than 7,500,000 AFL members were barred from national labor relations board facilities today by refusal of the AFL executive committee to sign non-Communist affidavits required by the Taft-Hartley act.

John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, blocked compliance after AFL president William Green originally advocated the anti-Communist oath earlier this week.

The AFL council is meeting in Chicago.

Lewis opposed the ruling of Robert N. Denham, NLRB general counsel, that no AFL union would be eligible to use the facilities of the board if any of the 15 AFL executive officials refused to sign affidavits disavowing Communism.

The UMW president called the Taft-Hartley act a "monstrosity" and a disgraceful attempt to "trespass" into the rights of labor.

The AFL decision means that the huge labor body will not be able to enlist the machinery of the NLRB for bargaining agent and union shop elections.

Record postwar high-cost-of-meat prices were paid during the spirited bidding at the prize-winning livestock sale held Friday night at the Pickaway County Fair.

Despite the downpour of rain and the muddy fairgrounds, a sizeable crowd was on hand when the sale opened shortly after 7:30 o'clock under direction of County Agent Larry A. Best. It had been planned to seat the spectators in the grand-stand for the sale but because of weather conditions the sale was held in the livestock show tent.

Peak sale price during the livestock auction was paid for the grand champion hog. It brought the phenomenal bid of $80 per 100 pounds. The porker

REPORTS SAYS TITO'S FORCES LOSE BATTLES

ATHENS, Sept. 13—Greek news dispatches from the Yugoslav frontier said today that Marshall Tito's troops had "suffered a number of serious setbacks" in the spreading conflict with Yugoslav anti-Communist guerrillas known as the "Crusaders."

Greek officials and military leaders admit "something unusual and irregular is going on in Yugoslavia between Lake Doiran and Djevdjelija" near the Yugoslav-Bulgarian-Greek frontier.

But they disclaimed any knowledge of the nature of the "irregularity," or whether there is any actual fighting.

The news dispatches, which said the battle began Aug. 26, reported that the Yugoslav guerrillas in the last four days have been reinforced by numerous "Crusader" bands arriving from Mount Osogovka.

They said the thunder of artillery could be clearly heard from Greek frontier territory since Djevdjelija is just across the frontier 40 miles north of Salonika.

SONNETT MAY CONDUCT MEAT PACKER INQUIRY

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13—The possibility developed today that assistant attorney general John F. Sonnett, chief of the justice department's anti-trust division, may personally conduct the federal inquiry into meat prices in Chicago the week of Sept. 23.

Eighteen representatives of the nation's big packing houses, including the "Big Four"—Swift, Armour, Wilson and Cudahy, have been subpoenaed to appear at the inquiry, which will be held before a grand jury.

weighed 205 pounds and the price paid by the Weber Packing company, Marietta, was $164. At this price it has been calculated that pork chops will likely retail at $1.50 a pound—or higher. The hog was owned by Ralph Stir.

GRAND CHAMPION steer, owned by David Lance, brought $60 per 100 pounds. The animal weighed 1,070 pounds, thus it cost the successful bidder—a group of co-operating Circleville business men—just $642.

The group of business men will stage a barbecue and free sandwiches—from the champion steer—will be served to boys and girls of the county's 4-H clubs.

Swift and Company, Columbus, paid $43 per 100 pounds, or $105.35, for the 245-pound reserve champion hog which was owned by William Court-right.

The reserve champion steer, owned by David Luckhart was sold to the high bidder, S. S. Logan and Son, Huntington, W. Va., for $36 per 100 pounds. The steer weighed 1,000 pounds, thus the price paid was $360.

FRED HUNT Packing company, Columbus, bought the champion lamb owned by Ralph Stir at $55 per 100 pounds. The lamb weighed 90 pounds, thus the price paid was $49.50.

The reserve champion lamb was sold to Frank Tegardin at $35 per 100 pounds. The lamb was owned by Junior Bowen. It weighed 100 pounds, thus the price paid was $35.

BIG MARKETS FEEL EFFECTS OF PROTESTS

Many Commodity Prices Drop In Face Of Threatened Return Of Controls

CHICAGO, Sept. 13—Runaway commodity prices today felt the bit of consumer protests and the whip of fear that controls might be returned.

Organized buyer resistance to high butter, egg and meat prices was reported throughout the nation.

Fears that the federal government might seek to reinstitute controls tumbled grain prices on the Chicago and Kansas City boards of trade yesterday.

BUTTER AND EGG futures on the Chicago mercantile exchange dropped the three and two cent daily limits respectively following a flood of selling orders.

Hog prices fell in Chicago and Kansas City.

In the nation's capital, the administration was understood to feel that some definite government action must be taken to halt the inflationary price trend.

Sources close to the White House said the administration viewed the high price levels with increasing concern and was seeking a plan for handling the problem.

THE CHAIN telephone-call buyers' strike idea was spreading. Some Chicago housewives were reported telephoning as many as 50 persons for aid in the drive against high food costs. A phone chain drive also was reported in Queens County, N. Y.

In Mobile, Ala., consumer groups were reported planning to campaign against one high-price item at a time until costs were driven down.

In Atlanta, Ga., grocers reported increased selective buying by protesting housewives.

MORE THAN 100 PHONES KNOCKED OUT BY STORM

Lightning during a two and one-half inch rainfall late Friday afternoon put 100 to 120 telephones out of commission in Circleville and vicinity. It was stated Saturday by officials of the Ohio Consolidated Telephone company.

About 30 lines were put out of service and the disabled phones, company officials said, were mostly in the rural areas near Circleville. Although company officials could give no definite estimate of the property damage they said it was small.

Crews of linemen were put to work repairing the damage and it was stated that service would be restored to all telephones by noon Saturday.

Taft Meets Union Boss After Brush With Pickets

SANTA CRUZ, Cal., Sept. 13—Sen. Robert A. Taft (R) O., stumping the West as an undeclared presidential candidate, shrugged off a brush with union pickets today and agreed to talk cases with a top-ranking Pacific coast labor leader.

Taft arranged to confer with Harry Lundberg, president of the AFL-Sailors' Union of the Pacific, following a demonstration by some 200 California AFL and CIO members who picketed the senator's first speech in defense of the Taft-Hartley law.

Lundberg, a two-fisted maverick in organized labor, asked Taft to tell him what to suggest to shipowners with whom Lundberg is now negotiating for a new contract. Lundberg said he wanted Taft to advise the shipowners on the provision for hiring halls, regarded as outlawed under the new labor law.

TAFT DEFENDED the act in a panel discussion before the California state bar after union members from Santa Cruz and nearby centers staged their demonstration outside this resort town's civic auditorium. His only

TWO REGULATORS BURN OUT AT POWER STATION

Two regulators burned out near midnight Friday at the West Mound street sub-station of the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric company.

Charles T. Gilmore, Circleville district manager for the company, said service on the south commercial lines was interrupted for approximately 10 minutes while company workmen made necessary adjustments. He estimated the loss at $6,000 to $8,000.

Overloaded lines, Mr. Gilmore said, caused oil to ignite. Operations will continue without the two regulators, Mr. Gilmore explained, adding that an order was placed for regulators a year ago and that it will likely be some time before delivery of this scarce item can be obtained.

TROPICAL STORM SPEEDS TOWARD U. S. AT 140 MPH

MIAMI, Sept. 13—A mighty Atlantic hurricane bearing winds of more than 140 miles an hour swept toward the U. S. mainland today, swinging in a perfect northward arc.

Since it was first reported two days ago, the tropical storm has moved from a position 2,000 miles southeast of Miami, Fla., to a spot roughly 1,000 miles distant, never changing its direction.

The Miami weather bureau, taking over from the San Juan, Puerto Rico, bureau, placed the storm center at 240 miles north northeast of San Juan this morning.

Whirling northwestward at 20 miles an hour, the dangerous air mass carried winds of hurricane force over an area 80 miles in diameter.

The weather bureau predicted the hurricane will continue a west northwest movement during the next 24 hours, with a probably increase in intensity.

TWO MEN HURT, ONE IS ARRESTED AFTER WRECK

Two men suffered minor head injuries and one of them was arrested on a reckless driving charge as a result of a traffic crash at 4:15 p. m. Friday on North Court street.

Police said a 11-me spreader driven by Guy McWhorter, 30, was in collision with a panel truck driven north by William Paul, 29, Washington, C. H. Paul and a passenger, James Bryan, 29, were injured. Paul was taken into custody but was subsequently released for appearance before Mayor Ben H. Gordon. The panel truck was badly damaged and the lime spreader was also damaged.

SHOW GOES ON AT FAIRGROUNDS DESPITE RAIN

Western Horse Show After Big Race Program Winds Up Big Event

Program of the final day of the Pickaway County Fair, Saturday, was to be presented as scheduled. This was announced by Tom Harman, fair secretary-manager Saturday morning despite overcast skies and an occasional drizzle of rain.

The four-day fair was rather hard hit late Friday afternoon and evening by weather conditions. More than two and one-half inches of rain, punctuated by thunder and lightning, fell during a three-hour period.

It was a few moments before 3 p. m. when the deluge came. The harness races were in progress and the grand-stand was packed with spectators. Several thousand fair-goers were on the 59-acre fairgrounds when the storm struck.

During the evening many parked cars became mired, and jeeps and tractors were brought into use to remove the cars. Many fair visitors were marooned in the autos to which they had fled for shelter.

SATURDAY'S harness races were to begin at 1 o'clock instead of the previously scheduled 2 p. m., and both day's races were to be run—with 16 heats in all.

Following the races Bob Nolan's Thrill Drivers were to stage their spectacular feats of daring in front of the grand-stand.

The Western Horse Show was scheduled to begin at 7:30 p. m. Saturday.

ALTHOUGH Friday's storm put a "crimp" in the County Fair, the fair management, the race supervisors, and the concessionaires worked valiantly to get everything in shape to complete the final day's program as scheduled.

"The show must go on." This is the time-honored slogan everybody connected with the fair was determined to follow.

The fair will end late Saturday night.

A highlight Saturday afternoon was to be a flight over the fairgrounds about 3:30 o'clock of 27 fighter planes comprising the 16th Fighter Squadron of the Air National Guard of Ohio. The planes were to come from the Lockbourne Army Air Base. At about 4 p. m. a C-47 transport plane was to fly over the grounds and was scheduled to drop a number of parachutes.

WOMAN ADMITS EMBEZZLING FOR 'BOY FRIEND'

DETROIT, Sept. 13—A 42-year-old clerk in Detroit's American Express company office told police today that she embezzled $107,110 and gave the entire amount to her "boy friend."

Police quoted Miss Lillian Meyers as saying that "neither my family nor myself received one penny of all the money."

The clerk told Prosecutor James McNally that she started embezzling about the first of the year.

She explained to police that the money was taken in two ways. She obtained $101,440 by making fictitious claims of lost travelers checks and then collecting the money herself.

Miss Meyers told police the remaining $5,670 was embezzled by forcing signatures on nine claim checks and intercepting the checks as they arrived from the New York office.

THREE-MILL TAX LEVY PLACED ON COUNTY BALLOT

Commissioners Certify Bill To Election Board For November Voting

Voters at the Nov. 4 election will ballot on the question of a special 3-mill tax levy on all taxable real estate in Circleville and Pickaway county to finance needed improvements to and enlargement of the Pickaway county children's home.

Provision for the referendum was made in a resolution which was adopted at a special meeting of the board of county commissioners and the resolution was certified Friday afternoon to the board of elections.

It bears the signatures of Commissioners John B. Keller, Wayne A. Hoover and Lyman E. Penn, all three members of the board of commissioners having attended the special meeting.

The 3-mill levy is the equivalent of $3 per $1,000 of taxable property and such a tax, according to County Auditor Fred L. Tipton, is calculated as being revenues totaling $150,000.

Declaring the necessity of building an addition to the children's home the resolution says the county's general revenue fund now has insufficient cash for that purpose and proposes the referendum at the November election on the proposal of a 3-mill levy outside the 10-mill limitation.

The special tax levy—if approved by the voters—would be levied for one year only, namely 1948.

TROPICAL STORM SPEEDS TOWARD U. S. AT 140 MPH

MIAMI, Sept. 13—A mighty Atlantic hurricane bearing winds of more than 140 miles an hour swept toward the U. S. mainland today, swinging in a perfect northward arc.

Since it was first reported two days ago, the tropical storm has moved from a position 2,000 miles southeast of Miami, Fla., to a spot roughly 1,000 miles distant, never changing its direction.

The Miami weather bureau, taking over from the San Juan, Puerto Rico, bureau, placed the storm center at 240 miles north-northeast of San Juan this morning.

Whirling northwestward at 20 miles an hour, the dangerous air mass carried winds of hurricane force over an area 80 miles in diameter.

The weather bureau predicted the hurricane will continue a west northwest movement during the next 24 hours, with a probably increase in intensity.

TWO MEN HURT, ONE IS ARRESTED AFTER WRECK

Two men suffered minor head injuries and one of them was arrested on a reckless driving charge as a result of a traffic crash at 4:15 p. m. Friday on North Court street.

Police said a lime spreader driven by Guy McWhorter, 30, was in collision with a panel truck driven north by William Paul, 29, Washington, C. H. Paul and a passenger, James Bryan, 29, were injured. Paul was taken into custody but was subsequently released for appearance before Mayor Ben H. Gordon. The panel truck was badly damaged and the lime spreader was also damaged.

SHOW GOES ON AT FAIRGROUNDS DESPITE RAIN

Western Horse Show After Big Race Program Winds Up Big Event

Program of the final day of the Pickaway County Fair, Saturday, was to be presented as scheduled. This was announced by Tom Harman, fair secretary-manager Saturday morning despite overcast skies and an occasional drizzle of rain.

The four-day fair was rather hard hit late Friday afternoon and evening by weather conditions. More than two and one-half inches of rain, punctuated by thunder and lightning, fell during a three-hour period.

It was a few moments before 3 p. m. when the deluge came. The harness races were in progress and the grand-stand was packed with spectators. Several thousand fair-goers were on the 59-acre fairgrounds when the storm struck.

During the evening many parked cars became mired, and jeeps and tractors were brought into use to remove the cars. Many fair visitors were marooned in the autos to which they had fled for shelter.

SATURDAY'S harness races were to begin at 1 o'clock instead of the previously scheduled 2 p. m., and both day's races were to be run—with 16 heats in all.

Following the races Bob Nolan's Thrill Drivers were to stage their spectacular feats of daring in front of the grand-stand.

The Western Horse Show was scheduled to begin at 7:30 p. m. Saturday.

ALTHOUGH Friday's storm put a "crimp" in the County Fair, the fair management, the race supervisors, and the concessionaires worked valiantly to get everything in shape to complete the final day's program as scheduled.

"The show must go on." This is the time-honored slogan everybody connected with the fair was determined to follow.

The fair will end late Saturday night.

A highlight Saturday afternoon was to be a flight over the fairgrounds about 3:30 o'clock of 27 fighter planes comprising the 16th Fighter Squadron of the Air National Guard of Ohio. The planes were to come from the Lockbourne Army Air Base. At about 4 p. m. a C-47 transport plane was to fly over the grounds and was scheduled to drop a number of parachutes.

WOMAN ADMITS EMBEZZLING FOR 'BOY FRIEND'

DETROIT, Sept. 13—A 42-year-old clerk in Detroit's American Express company office told police today that she embezzled $107,110 and gave the entire amount to her "boy friend."

Police quoted Miss Lillian Meyers as saying that "neither my family nor myself received one penny of all the money."

The clerk told Prosecutor James McNally that she started embezzling about the first of the year. She explained to police that the money was taken in two ways. She obtained $101,440 by making fictitious claims of lost travelers checks and then collecting the money herself. Miss Meyers told police the remaining $5,670 was embezzled by forcing signatures on nine claim checks and intercepting the checks as they arrived from the New York office.

Season With 20-0 Win BEFORE RAIN Over Columbus Rosary

Pittsburgh Youth Now Has 49: Cards Cut Dodger Lead By Game

NEW YORK, Sept. 13 — Baseball fans thrilled to the realization today that Ralph Kiner, hitting homers at the fastest pace in baseball's history, may perform the miracle of equalling Babe Ruth's feat of hitting 60 home runs in 1927.

The Pittsburgh strong boy's two four-baggers against Boston last night gave him a total of 49 for 140 games. Ruth had 52 in 140 games. That means Kiner must wallop 11 in Pittsburgh's 14 remaining contests to tie the total of the Bambino, who collected eight in his last 14 games.

Kiner must be conceded a chance to turn the trick because he not only is setting new records almost daily, but also establishing marks that likely will stand for all time to come.

Ralph's pair of round-trippers last night gave him eight in four consecutive games. That broke all major league records for six consecutive games, let alone five or four.

EVEN RUTH, in his greatest spree in 1921, reached his climax in this respect when he hit seven homers in five consecutive contests.

Kiner, youthful, powerful and fired by ambition, has averaged two homers a game for his last four contests. He can retard that terrific pace by more than 100 per cent and still equal or surpass Ruth's 60.

The strong boy's two homers last night not only gave the Pirates a 4-to-3 win over Boston but also put the Buc outfielder two up on Johnny Mize of the New York Giants in the 1947 home run derby.

For the remainder of the season Kiner will be a threat both to the Brooklyn Dodgers and the St. Louis Cardinals.

THE DODGERS now lead the Cards by only 4½ game as a result of the champions' 8-to-7 victory over the Brooks last night.

This one probably was the most nerve-racking contest of the season. The St. Louis heroes were Stan Musial, with a base-clearing triple in the seventh, and Country Slaughter, whose double off relief pitcher Ralph Branca in the ninth won the game.

Brooklyn's stalwarts were Arky Vaughan, with a two-run pinch hit; Don Lund, St. Paul rookie who hit a pitch two-run homer in the ninth, and Dixie Walker, who after Lund's homer hit a two-run single which put Brooklyn ahead for the first time.

The goat was Eddie Stanky, Brooklyn second baseman who made a costly fumble of a simple grounder in the final frame.

Chicago's Cubs downed the Phillies twice, 4 to 3 and 7 to 5.

DETROIT TOOK over second place in the American League by beating the leading New York Yankees, 7 to 2, behind Art Houtteman, sandlot rookie. Boston's Red Sox were scalped by the Cleveland Indians, 11 to 6, and dropped to third place.

In night games, the Chicago White Sox nosed out the Athletics 5 to 4 in 10 innings, and the St. Louis Browns trounced Washington 9 to 3.

Circleville high school Tigers started the 1947 football season Friday night with a 20-0 victory over Columbus Holy Rosary.

Playing before a home crowd held down by the afternoon "shower," the Tigers took advantage of most of their opportunities to score while keeping the visitors away from scoring territory.

Midway of the first period Circleville had its first score.

After receiving the kickoff the Tigers failed to advance much and punted. The kick was fumbled and "Skeet" Smallwood fell on the ball on the Rosary 35-yard line. A pass from "Skeet" to Dean Smallwood made 12 yards. Another pass was ruled good because of interference, putting the ball almost on the goal line. "Red" Crawford plowed over for the score. Harold Hill placekicked the extra point after a Rosary offense gave the Tigers a second chance for the point after touchdown. A pass play failed on the first try.

Second score came just before the first half ended. Pass interference put the ball on about the two-yard line late in the second quarter, but four tries left the ball in about the same place.

Rosary moved the ball out about a yard, then punted. Circleville returned to the 18-yard line and on the first play a Smallwood-Smallwood pass play was good for 12 yards. A line play was stopped then Crawford swung wide to score. But Circleville was offside and the Tigers took a five yard penalty. Hill started wide, then cut in and crossed the goal line. He calmly added the extra point.

Dean Smallwood recovered a Rosary fumble to set the stage for the third and final score. Starting on the Rosary 38 the Tigers went in 13 plays over the goal line.

Crawford made 5, Ferguson 3 and Hill a first down. Crawford lost two and "Skeet" Smallwood got 10. Crawford made a first down. A five-yard penalty on Rosary helped. John Valentine lost three and Smallwood made five. A five-yard penalty cost. Smallwood threw a pass to Smallwood for six yards.

"Skeet" sneaked two for a first down. Hill picked up a yard, then Crawford rammed over the goal line. Hill's kick was no good.

Longest run of the game was by Hill in the second quarter when he got away for 45 yards shortly before the second score.

Statistics gave the home club a wide edge over the "Bus" Woodward coached team, which never threatened and was in Circleville territory only once.

The Tigers came through the game in good shape. Coaches Steve Brudzinski and Tommy Bennett were generally pleased with their charges, despite general evidences of "greenness," which cropped out occasionally.

Next week the Tigers go to Hillsboro to play their first

U. S. ARMY BAND GIVES CONCERT FOR PERSHING

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13—The U. S. Army band assembled under the windows of General of the Armies John J. Pershing's suite at Walter Reed hospital today and serenaded America's No. 1 soldier in honor of his 87th birthday anniversary.

The general, who hospital authorities reported to be "in fine condition for a man his age," permitted the occasion to cause only a slight variation from his usual quiet daily routine.

Aside from the serenade, the only activity on his schedule was a visit by his sister, Mrs. Mae Pershing; his personal physician, Maj. Gen. Shelly U. Marietta and the hospital commandant, Brig. Gen. George C. Beach.

STRIKING RAILROAD MEN ACCEPT 15 CENT RAISE

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Sept. 13—Pittsburgh's eight-day strike of union railroad employes, which has resulted in the loss of a 20,000 tons of raw steel daily, was settled suddenly today.

The two railroad brotherhoods accepted a 15-cent an hour wage increase shortly before midnight and the 1800 workers are returning to their jobs commencing with the 7 a. m. shift today.

C. R. Cox, president of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation, announced that efforts were being made to get 17,500 steel workers back on their jobs.

MOTORIST BOUND OVER AS RESULT OF ACCIDENT

Carmen Allen, Maplewood avenue, whose automobile knocked Sue Lutz, 8, of 624 South Scioto street, from her bicycle, pleaded not guilty to a reckless driving charge, Friday night before Mayor Ben H. Gordon.

Mayor Gordon bound Allen to the Pickaway county grand jury and Allen was released under $200 bond. The charge had been filed against Allen by the girl's mother, Mrs. Earl Lutz.

The accident happened early Wednesday night on South Scioto street near Ohio street and the girl suffered severe lacerations on her face and head and several teeth were loosened.

WORKMAN KILLED

ZANESVILLE, O., Sept. 13 — An attempt to close a skylight proved fatal today to James W. Baker, 62, an assistant labor foreman at the Philo plant of the Ohio Power company. Baker was fatally injured when he was struck by a steel window frame as he attempted to close the skylight.

GENE ABBE had plenty of competition in the first race. Barber B was second, Jerry M third, Carolina Abbe fourth and Butternut King fifth. Adrian Burgett, driver of Butternut King, who had counted on to give Gene Abbe a good race, complained quite a bit after the race.

Five starts were made before this race actually got under way.

Hulda Ann finished with a good lead over Delia Mae Hanover in the second race. Trailing were Never Again, Frisky Bunter, Bob Key and Little Rip, in that order.

Following Snappy Kate home were Flash, Uncle Bob and Schuyler Hall.

Also scheduled for Saturday afternoon, if rain stays away, are an amateur race and pony races.

Gardner Duffy, Cleveland, former Circleville resident, was one of the interested spectators at the harness races at the county fair Friday.

The GOP leader drew warm applause from the convention delegates.

Murray and Rep. Ray Madden (D) Ind., denounced the Taft-Hartley act as unfair and undemocratic. Rep. Charles A. Halleck (R) Ind., house majority leader, backed up Taft in defending the law.

Taft planned to rest today and Sunday, except for his meeting with Lundberg, before leaving for Los Angeles where he will deliver his next major address—a defense of the overall GOP record in congress.

Harold Hill placekicked the extra point after a Rosary offense gave the Tigers a second chance for the point after touchdown. A pass play failed on the first try.

Second score came just before the first half ended. Pass interference put the ball on about the two-yard line late in the second quarter, but four tries left the ball in about the same place.

Rosary moved the ball out about a yard, then punted. Circleville returned to the 18-yard line and on the first play a Smallwood-Smallwood pass play was good for 12 yards. A line play was stopped then Crawford swung wide to score. But Circleville was offside and the Tigers took a five yard penalty. Hill started wide, then cut in and crossed the goal line. He calmly added the extra point.

Dean Smallwood recovered a Rosary fumble to set the stage for the third and final score. Starting on the Rosary 38 the Tigers went in 13 plays over the goal line.

Crawford made 5, Ferguson 3 and Hill a first down. Crawford lost two and "Skeet" Smallwood got 10. Crawford made a first down. A five-yard penalty on Rosary helped. John Valentine lost three and Smallwood made five. A five-yard penalty cost. Smallwood threw a pass to Smallwood for six yards.

"Skeet" sneaked two for a first down. Hill picked up a yard, then Crawford rambled over the goal line. Hill's kick was no good.

Longest run of the game was by Hill in the second quarter when he got away for 45 yards shortly before the second score.

Statistics gave the home club a wide edge over the "Bus" Woodward coached team, which never threatened and was in Circleville territory only once.

The Tigers came through the game in good shape. Coaches Steve Brudzinski and Tommy Bennett were generally pleased with their charges, despite general evidences of "greenness," which cropped out occasionally.

U. S. ARMY BAND GIVES CONCERT FOR PERSHING

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13—The U. S. Army band assembled under the windows of General of the Armies John J. Pershing's suite at Walter Reed hospital today and serenaded America's No. 1 soldier in honor of his 87th birthday anniversary.

The general, who hospital authorities reported to be "in fine condition for a man his age," permitted the occasion to cause only a slight variation from his usual quiet daily routine.

Aside from the serenade, the only activity on his schedule was a visit by his sister, Mrs. Mae Pershing; his personal physician, Maj. Gen. Shelly U. Marietta and the hospital commandant, Brig. Gen. George C. Beach.

GENE ABBE had plenty of competition in the first race. Barber B was second, Jerry M third, Carolina Abbe fourth and Butternut King fifth. Adrian Burgett, driver of Butternut King, who had counted on to give Gene Abbe a good race, complained quite a bit after the race.

Five starts were made before this race actually got under way. Hulda Ann finished with a good lead over Delia Mae Hanover in the second race. Trailing were Never Again, Frisky Bunter, Bob Key and Little Rip, in that order.

Following Snappy Kate home were Flash, Uncle Bob and Schuyler Hall.

Also scheduled for Saturday afternoon, if rain stays away, are an amateur race and pony races.

Gardner Duffy, Cleveland, former Circleville resident, was one of the interested spectators at the harness races at the county fair Friday.

POINTING to the GOP victory in this week's Pennsylvania congressional election as a demonstration of support of the Taft-Hartley act, Taft told his first California audience: "If labor union leaders wish to make the labor issue the sole issue of the next campaign, Republicans will be delighted to have them bring that about."

The GOP leader drew warm applause from the convention delegates.

Murray and Rep. Ray Madden (D) Ind., denounced the Taft-Hartley act as unfair and undemocratic. Rep. Charles A. Halleck (R) Ind., house majority leader, backed up Taft in defending the law.

Taft planned to rest today and Sunday, except for his meeting with Lundberg, before leaving for Los Angeles where he will deliver his next major address—a defense of the overall GOP record in congress.

FIVE SERVICES 'Marvelous Things' WILL BE HELD To Be Sermon Topic AT EUB CHURCH For Methodists

"Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy," is the commandment of God to the people. The First Evangelical United Brethren church, East Main street, is affording residents of this community an opportunity to keep this commandment by attending church Sunday. Five services are conducted each Sabbath.

Church school begins at 9:15 a. m. with class for all age groups. Hills Hall is the general superintendent.

Divine worship under the direction of the pastor, the Rev. Carl L. Wilson, begins at 10:30 a. m. The minister will speak at the morning service on the theme, "Decision." I Kings 18:21 will be the Biblical foundation for the message. Miss Lucille Kirkwood will play, "Holsworthy Church Bells" by S. S. Wesley; "Andante Cantabile" by C. M. Widor and "Melodie" by Paderewski as organ selections. The choir will sing a special number.

Sunday evening at 6 o'clock, Youth Fellowship meets in the Sunday school room with Mrs. Carl L. Wilson, director, supervising the program.

Evangelistic services at 7:30 p. m. finds the pastor preaching on the topic, "The New Creation." Special music is provided in this service.

One of the most significant Sunday services is the junior church which meets the needs of children under 12 years of age. Miss Gladys Noggle directs this strictly juvenile program with the assistance of Mrs. Carl L. Wilson and Miss Patty Nau. This service is held at 10:30 a. m. simultaneously with the Morning Worship. Meeting in the Children's Chapel, the child worshipper receives the sermon through the aid of visual education or story telling.

PROGRAM PLANNED

The public is invited to attend an all musical program Sunday at 3 p. m. in the Second Baptist church. Mrs. Rozelle Foster, noted singer from Columbus, with her chorus will present the program. A free will offering will be taken for the educational program, which is financed by all Baptist churches.

First Methodist Church
Rev. Elisha Kneisley, Minister
Church School, 9:15 a. m., W. Earl Hilyard, superintendent; Worship, 10:30 a. m.; Methodist Youth Fellowship, 6 p. m.

"Great and Marvelous Things" will be the sermon subject of the Rev. Elisha Kneisley, pastor, at the First Methodist church Sunday morning.

Dr. Kneisley states: "Much of life depends upon our reaction to the things we see and hear. It would seem that some such requirement to spiritual law should be adhered to. Of necessity the public mind needs to be directed along such a course. For years we have heard the story of war, high prices, profiteering. Amid this babel of voices there is danger of not hearing the Master voice. When people do not hear, they forget."

Organ selections at the service included "Morning Prayer," by Lawrence, and "Manoah," by Stults.

Anthem, "Ave Maria," by Schubert, will be sung by the church quartet, Elizabeth Dunkle, Pearl Defenbaugh, Barton Deming and W. Lloyd Sprouse, with Norma Graham singing the soprano obbligato.

For the offertory Irene Wagar and Leah Ann Bracey will sing "O, Divine Redeemer" by Gounod.

YOUTH SERVICE SCHEDULED AT TRINITY CHURCH

Trinity Lutheran church service at 10:15 a. m. Sunday is designated as a pre-school service.

Theme of the pastor, the Rev. George L. Troutman, will be "Youth of the Church, Serving the Master." All youth of the church are especially invited to be in attendance.

Senior choir, under the direction of Carl C. Leist, will present appropriate music, accompanied by Mrs. Karl Herrmann, church organist.

In the Sunday school, which precedes the church service, study of the book of Proverbs will continue, the subject being "The Wisdom of Harmonious Living." There are classes for all age groups.

Study hour begins at 9 a. m. All three departments meet in the parish house.

In Keene Valley, N. Y., in the Adirondack Mountains, stands the lovely simple colonial type Congregational Church shown here. Built some 25 years ago, it represents the perennial place of worship of its Valley congregation. In summer vacation season, it is attended also by cottage and estate owners of the area.

MISS DOWNING SPEAKER FOR PRESBYTERIANS

"Jesus Christ Is Lord" is the topic on which Miss Elizabeth Downing, returned delegate to the World Conference of Christian Youth at Oslo, Norway, last month will speak at the morning service of the First Presbyterian church Sunday.

Miss Downing will present the viewpoints of Christian youth delegates from other nations; what they think about the Kingdom of Christ in its relation to the post-war sufferings of their own people; the strength and reality of Christian world fellowship between nations; the prospects for the future of the Christian faith.

Miss Downing will also tell briefly about the Presbyterian $27,000,000 Restoration Fund,—how some of it is bringing results in Holland and France where Protestant workers are helping to reorganize Protestant Christian work.

Choir and congregation will sing a special hymn that was popular at the World Conference. Miss Abbe Clarke will play, "A Morning Song," by Baird; "Cathena," by D'Am-brosio; and "Postlude in D," by Heller.

Special Services At Nazarene Church

Special services will be conducted in the Church of the Nazarene, Walnut street at South Pickaway street, September 19th, 20th and 21st.

The services will be of special interest to the youth and the children. The well known religious cartoonist, Larry Mac Allen, Wellington, will be the guest worker. Mr. Mac Allen will paint in full color and will give illustrated gospel songs.

Among the famous who have filled the pulpit of the church, is Dr. Henry Sloan Coffin, while he was at the Ausable Club, during the Summer months.

The church has a lovely extension attached (not the minister's home in the picture of the church and steeple). The extension houses a library and meeting room.

CHURCH BRIEFS

Trinity Luther League will meet at 7:30 p. m. in the parish house. Theme for the round-table discussions is "Amusements to be enjoyed by Christians."

Girl Interest Group of the First Methodist church will meet with Miss Mary Ellen Young, 124 West Franklin street, Monday at 7:30 p. m.

Combined meeting of church elders, Sunday school teachers and all organization officers of Trinity Lutheran church will be held at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday in the parish house.

Members of the board of education of the First Methodist church will meet at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday in the church parlors.

Group A of the Women's Association of the Presbyterian church will meet at the home of Mrs. T. L. Houston, Stoutsville, Wednesday at 2:30 p. m.

Trinity Lutheran Brotherhood will meet at 7:30 p. m. Thursday on the church lawn. Harry Barthelmas and Collis Young are co-chairmen.

Group B of the Women's association of the Presbyterian church will meet at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Homer Quillen, Walnut town-ship.

Mrs. Fred Grant, 619 North Court street, will be hostess to Circle 2 of the WSCS of the First Methodist church at 8 p. m.

Presbyterian choir will rehearse at 7:30 p. m. Thursday.

On the walls of this room are murals depicting in color the various mountain groups which form the valley. The artist has kept the sunlight from one direction, as if nature herself had taken over.

In hundreds of country churches throughout the land, the plain truths about God and Creation, and the life of Christ, are taught and lives molded in the pattern of Christian living. Sometimes it seems that the very simplicity of design and settings of such churches emphasizes the Biblical truths.

Whether a church be in New England or in Australia, if it is the House of God, and erected in His name and for His worship, He will dwell among those who are in attendance. A oneness with the Creator is life's most desirable state. The Keene Valley church, and others of various denominations elsewhere, can help us to find salvation.

following the regular session with each officer asked to bring report blanks.

First quarterly conference of the year for the First Evangelical United Brethren church will be held at the church with the Dr. C. M. Bowman, Westerville, conference superintendent, presiding; Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. Executives are asked to bring a short summary of plans and policy for the coming year. Treasurers are asked to bring only reports of balances in the treasury. Some very important business involving the local church and denominational matters will be presented and voted upon at this session. Members of the church, although not officials, are invited to attend.

Young people of the First Methodist church, from the seventh grade through high school, will have their first "get-together" Sunday September 21, at 6 p. m. in the junior chapel. Purpose of the meeting is to plan for the "friendship dinner" and the election of officers of the Methodist Youth Fellowship.

Catechetical instruction class will meet at 10 a. m. Saturday in the Lutheran parish house.

Monday, at 10 A. M., the Presbytery of Columbus will meet in regular session at the Presbyterian Church in Chillicothe, the Rev. Harold Weir, pastor.

PRAYER WILL BE CALVARY EUB TOPIC SUNDAY

Sunday morning message which will be given by the pastor of the Calvary Evangelical United Brethren church is entitled "God's Conditions For Answered Prayer."

The scripture of the morning is taken from Luke 11:1-13 and the sermon is based upon various portions of scripture found in the books of the Bible which enlighten us as to God's conditions to answered prayer. At the evening service the Pastor will preach on the subject "The Way of Return."

Members of the church are reminded not to forget the relief program which the church is carrying on.

That He Might Have Life

FIVE SERVICES WILL BE HELD AT EUB CHURCH 'Marvelous Things' To Be Sermon Topic For Methodists

"Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy," is the com-mandment of God to the people. The First Evangelical United Brethren church, East Main street, is affording residents of this community an opportunity to keep this commandment by attending church Sunday. Five services are conducted each Sabbath.

Church school begins at 9:15 a. m. with class for all age groups. Hillis Hall is the general superintendent.

Divine worship under the direction of the pastor, the Rev. Carl L. Wilson, begins at 10:30 a. m. The minister will speak at the morning service on the theme, "Decision." I Kings 18:21 will be the Biblical founda-tion for the message. Miss Lucille Kirkwood will play, "Holsworth Church Bells" by S. S. Wesley; "Andante Can-tabile" by C. M. Widor and "Melodie" by Paderevski as organ selections. The choir will sing a special number.

Sunday evening at 6 o'clock, Youth Fellowship meets in the Sunday school room with Mrs. Carl L. Wilson, director, super-visor of the program.

Evangelistic services at 7:30 p. m. finds the pastor preaching on the topic, "The New Creation." Special music is provided in this service.

One of the most significant Sunday services is the junior church which meets the needs of children under 12 years of age. Miss Gladys Noggle directs this strictly juvenile program with the assistance of Mrs. Carl L. Wilson and Miss Patty Nau. This service is held at 10:30 a. m. simultaneously with the Morning Worship. Meeting in the Children's Chapel, the child worshiper receives the sermon through the aid of visual educa-tion or story telling.

PROGRAM PLANNED

The public is invited to attend an all musical program Sunday at 3 p. m. in the Second Baptist church. Mrs. Rozelle Foster, noted singer from Col-umbus, with her chorus will present the program. A free will offering will be taken for the educational program, which is financed by all Baptist churches.

"Great and Marvelous Things" will be the sermon subject of the Rev. Elisha Kneisley, pastor, at the First Methodist church Sun-day morning.

Dr. Kneisley states: "Much of life depends upon our reaction to the things we see and hear. It would seem that some such re-quirement to spiritual law should be adhered to. Of neces-sity the public mind needs to be directed along such a course. For years we have heard the story of war, high prices, pro-fiteering. Amid this babel of voices there is danger of not hear-ing the Master voice. When people do not hear, they forget."

Organ selections at the service included "Morning Prayer, by Lawrence, and "Manoah", by Stults.

Anthem, "Ave Maria", by Schubert, will be sung by the church quartet, Elizabeth Dun-kle, Pearl Defenbaugh, Barton Deming and W. Lloyd Sprouse, with Norma Graham singing the soprano obbligato.

For the offertory Irene Wagar and Leah Ann Bracey will sing "O, Divine Redeemer" by Gounod.

YOUTH SERVICE SCHEDULED AT TRINITY CHURCH

Trinity Lutheran church ser-vice at 10:15 a. m. Sunday is designated as a pre-school ser-vice.

Theme of the pastor, the Rev. George L. Troutman, will be "Youth of the Church, Serving the Master." All youth of the church are especially invited to be in attendance.

Senior choir, under the direc-tion of Carl C. Leist, will pre-sent appropriate music, accom-panied by Mrs. Karl Herrmann, church organist.

In the Sunday school, which precedes the church service, study of the book of Proverbs will continue, the subject being "The Wisdom of Harmonious living." There are classes for all age groups.

Study hour begins at 9 a. m. All three departments meet in the parish house.

In Keene Valley, N. Y., in the Adirondack Mountains, stands the lovely simple colonial type Congregational Church shown here. Built some 25 years ago, it represents the perennial place of worship of its Valley congregation. In summer vacation season, it is attended also by cottage and estate owners of the area.

MISS DOWNING SPEAKER FOR PRESBYTERIANS

"Jesus Christ Is Lord" is the topic on which Miss Elizabeth Downing, returned delegate to the World Conference of Christian Youth at Oslo, Nor-way, last month will speak at the morning service of the First Presbyterian church Sunday.

Miss Downing will present the viewpoints of Christian youth delegates from other nations: what they think about the King-dom of Christ in its relation to the post-war sufferings of their own people; the strength and reality of Christian world fellow-ship between nations; the pros-pects for the future of the Christian faith.

Miss Downing will also tell briefly about the Presbyterian $27,000,000 Restoration Fund,—how some of it is bringing re-sults in Holland and France where Protestant workers are helping to reorganize Protestant Christian work.

Choir and congregation will sing a special hymn that was popular at the World Confer-ence. Miss Abbe Clarke will play, "A Morning Song," by Baird; "Cathena," by D'Am-brosio; and "Postlude in D", by Heller.

Special Services At Nazarene Church

Special services will be con-ducted in the Church of the Nazarene, Walnut street at South Pickaway street, Septem-ber 19th, 20th and 21st.

The services will be of special interest to the youth and the children. The well known religious cartoonist, Larry Mac Allen, Wellington, will be the guest worker. Mr. Mac Allen will paint in full color and will give illustrated gospel songs.

Among the famous who have filled the pulpit of the church, is Dr. Henry Sloan Coffin, while he was at the Ausable Club, during the Summer months.

The church has a lovely ex-tension attached (not the min-ister's home in the picture of the church and steeple). The extension houses a library and meeting room.

CHURCH BRIEFS

Trinity Luther League will meet at 7:30 p. m. in the parish house. Theme for the round-table discussions is "Amuse-ments to be enjoyed by Christians."

Girl Interest Group of the First Methodist church will meet with Miss Mary Ellen Young, 124 West Franklin street, Monday at 7:30 p. m.

Combined meeting of church elders, Sunday school teachers and all organization officers of Trinity Lutheran church will be held at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday in the parish house.

Members of the board of edu-cation of the First Methodist church will meet at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday in the church parlors.

Group A of the Women's As-sociation of the Presbyterian church will meet at the home of Mrs. T. L. Houston, Stoutsville, Wednesday at 2:30 p. m.

Trinity Lutheran Brotherhood will meet at 7:30 p. m. Thurs-day on the church lawn. Harry Barthelmas and Collis Young are co-chairmen.

Group B of the Women's as-sociation of the Presbyterian church will meet at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Homer Quillen, Walnut town-ship.

Mrs. Fred Grant, 619 North Court street, will be hostess to Circle 2 of the WSCS of the First Methodist church at 8 p. m.

Presbyterian choir will re-hearse at 7:30 p. m. Thursday.

On the walls of this room are murals depicting in color the various mountain groups which form the valley. The ar-tist has kept the sunlight from one direction, as if nature her-self had taken over.

In hundreds of country churches throughout the land, the plain truths about God and Creation, and the life of Christ, are taught and lives molded in the pattern of Christian living. Sometimes it seems that the very simplicity of de-sign and settings of such churches emphasizes the Bibli-cal truths.

Whether a church be in New England or in Australia, if it is the House of God, and erected in His name and for His wor-ship. He will dwell among those who are in attendance. A oneness with the Creator is life's most desirable state. The Keene Valley church, and oth-ers of various denominations elsewhere, can help us to find salvation.

PRAYER WILL BE CALVARY EUB TOPIC SUNDAY

Sunday morning message which will be given by the pas-tor of the Calvary Evangelical United Brethren church is en-titled "God's Conditions For Answered Prayer."

The scripture of the morning is taken from Luke 11:1-13 and the sermon is based upon various portions of scripture found in the books of the Bible which enlighten us as to God's conditions to answered prayer. At the evening service the Pastor will preach on the sub-ject "The Way of Return." Members of the church are reminded not to forget the re-lief program which the church is carrying on.

following the regular session with each officer asked to bring report blanks.

First quarterly conference of the year for the First Evan-gelical United Brethren church will be held at the church with the Dr. C. M. Bowman, Westerville, conference superintendent, pre-siding; Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. Executives are asked to bring a short summary of plans and pol-icy for the coming year. Treas-urers are asked to bring only re-ports of balances in the treasury. Some very important business involving the local church and denominational matters will be presented and voted upon at this session. Members of the church, although not officials, are invit-ed to attend.

Southeast Ohio conference board of administration will hold an all-day session at the First Evangelical United Brethren church, Wednesday, September 17 beginning at 10 a. m. Dr. C. M. Bowman, conference superin-tendent, will preside. District leaders and all conference com-mittees will meet for planning the coming year's work.

Catechetical instruction class will meet at 10 a. m. Saturday in the Lutheran parish house.

Monday, at 10 A. M., the Pres-bytery of Columbus will meet in regular session at the Presby-terian Church in Chillicothe, the Rev. Harold Weir, pastor.

Trustee board of the First Evangelical United Brethren church will hold a very impor-tant monthly session at the pas-tor's office, Monday, at 8 p. m.

Women's Society of World Ser-vice of the First Evangelical United Brethren church will meet at the home of Mrs. Udell Pritchard, 115 South Washington street, Monday night, at 7:30 o'clock. Mrs. Ralph Long will be the program leader with Mrs. Florence Mason, Mrs. Robert VanDervort and Mrs. Harry Gard as assistant hostesses. The executive committee will meet

STILL IMPORTANT

SOME TOWNS along U. S. Route 20 in New York State, a tourist reports, have taken down their memorial tablets listing the local heroes of the war. The friend who sends in the item comments:

"Apparently they are no longer interested. The veterans will hardly be surprised. After their experiences in trying to get ordinary decent housing, it will be no news that the war is over and the men who won it are no longer of importance."

This comment may be mistaken. Not only on Route 20 but all over the land the big honor rolls with the names of those who enlisted, those who were wounded and those who gave their lives have been taken down, not because the service men and women were no longer important, but because the tablets or posters were becoming weather-beaten and soiled. The names, after all, were of local young men and women, whose families and friends live in the community and for whom they and their deeds will never lose importance.

It is safe to say that no permanent memorials of any kind have been destroyed. But the temporary lists, of interest from day to day during the war, have rightly been removed and the names frequently preserved in more permanent form. A torn or rain-streaked bulletin board shows less than honor after its useful time has passed. Let the paper, the plywood, the blackboard go. On the hearts of those who honored them ephemerally then, their names are engraved forevermore.

FREE ENTERPRISE THREAT

"THE CONTINUOUS increase in the cost of living constitutes the greatest current threat to the American free enterprise system and the American way of life, which is on trial before the world."

No Communist or parlor pink said this. The speaker was Jerome M. Ney, chairman of the board of the American Retail Federation.

Individuals and associations launching campaigns to proclaim the wonders of the American way of life might spend their energy better in remedying our country's weakness. In the long run the greatest enemies of free enterprise are not its avowed foes, but its voluble friends who abuse its privileges.

OUT WITH THE OLD

CITY GOVERNMENT would be far better if an old notion died. This is the idea that, as William M. Reddig, writing on the Pendergast rule in Kansas City, puts it, "success in running a store, a poultry house or a real estate office uniquely qualified a man to manage the public's affairs."

Government is a profession for which training is needed just as much as law or medicine. An untrained man may do less damage in government than in the other two, but that fact alone does not justify his choice.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13—In certain private meetings with Democratic politicians, President Truman made an unannounced and unreported decision, turning down outright political action to offset Dewey and Taft on the stump. Mr. Truman said this is not the time.

Several speaking engagements pressed by local leaders were turned down by the White House. Not much was done politically with Labor Day or the American Legion convention by the President. In meetings with the men who urged him to get out and campaign, Mr. Truman said generally he thinks his best chance is to be a good President. He seems convinced campaign speaking would not do much good.

Possibly the President is mindful that foreign developments may overturn, and have more effect on politics than speeches could, before the conventions start next June. His advisers also generally agree his position on the politically dominant Taft-Hartley union reform bill does not need political advertising, as he has taken the union side and is somewhat embarrassingly in charge of enforcement.

So it looks like all the top White House politicians are satisfied now is the time to remain quiet, (but not the national committee, of course). Mr. Truman will politically go down the line with the unions and new deal, but will fight Wallace and the Communist activities (his friends say this although his talk has tended to keep Wallace in the Democratic fold). Personal acquaintances report he was privately sensitive at first to criticism that he was not a big man, did not have extraordinary dignity and so on. Now, their observations are that he is falling into the politician's love of horseplay, regarding the presidency as a high office instead of something to provide him with personal power for a political machine, and generally is quite satisfied to let things go as they have been.

The somewhat guarded Legion announcement of Gov. Dewey for the youth draft military training, brought him forward on a national subject in response to the grumbling heard in Republican ranks that he had not taken forthright stands on big issues of the day. His Washington friends say he will speak out more nationally and internationally, from now on.

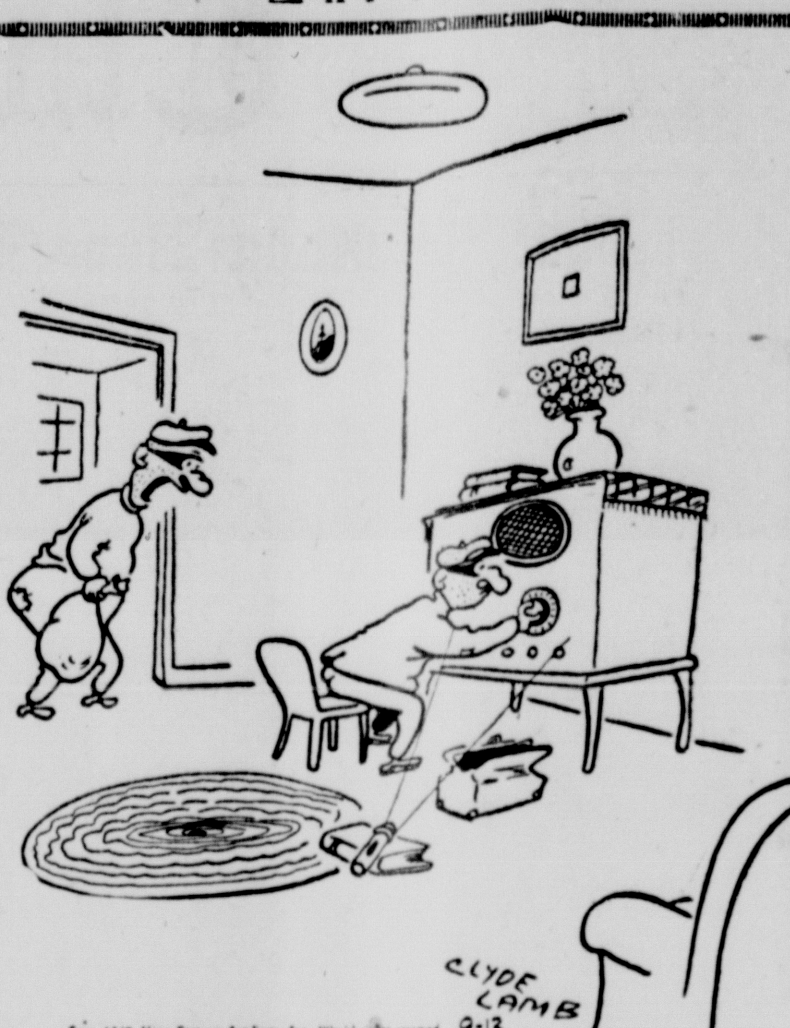

An inside story is going around (definite details are lacking) that Dewey has mended some trouble in his up-state New York delegation. Certain up-state Republicans had been questioning what Dewey might do in the White House, were not sure, and started talking privately. But this situation is now said to be fully straightened out and there is no question of the unanimous support he will get from New York.

Results of Taft's speaking tour will largely tell the tale for the Ohioan, although his candidacy has received stronger private growth within the party than has been advertised. Last Spring the swing was to Dewey because of Taft's connection with union reform; now a reaction has set in attributable to the growth of feeling that the bill may not be unpopular. One newsman who made a survey of state leaders has written that Taft has the greatest leadership strength within the party at this time. (Continued on Page Six)

Dutch stubbornness has become proverbial, but it looks as if the Dutch were displaying too much of that quality in their refusal to let the United Nations intervene in their war with Indonesia.

Two Types of Heart Trouble

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

BECAUSE of the greater attention being given by medicine to coronary thrombosis and angina pectoris, the average man is hearing a great many references to them. And yet, beyond realizing that both have to do with the heart, he really knows very little of either. In both disorders, the heart is deprived to a greater or lesser extent of its blood supply by something that happens in the coronary arteries, which are the arteries that carry blood to the heart. That something is very different, however, in the two ailments.

Arteries Constrict

In angina pectoris we suppose that the arteries which supply the heart with blood suddenly constrict and go into spasm. Naturally the blood flow to the heart is reduced and at the same time there is an agonizing attack of pain, starting beneath the breast bone and radiating out over the left shoulder and down the arm. Usually, the spasm in the arteries lasts for no more than a few moments and the pain is just as fleeting. Because the blood supply to the heart is renewed so quickly, its cells rarely suffer much damage in such attacks.

When it comes to coronary thrombosis, however, the picture is different. Here a clot forms in one of the coronary arteries and acts as a plug to shut off the flow of blood to this or that part of the heart. In these cases there is likely to be actual damage or even death of some of the heart tissue. Thus pain, just as severe as that in angina, also persists for hours or even days.

The Treatment

In considering the treatment of coronary thrombosis, the treatment of angina pectoris must also be borne in mind since the two disorders are so closely related and, in some cases, angina may be the forerunner of coronary thrombosis.

In the treatment of angina, the aim is to hold spasm of the arteries to a minimum and to keep circulation to the heart at a maximum. In this, three things are important—work, worry and the weather. Work or physical effort, worry and nervous tension, and cold weather with strong winds are all to be avoided because all may be factors in bringing on attacks.

Relieving the Pain

The treatment of coronary thrombosis must be directed toward relieving the agonizing pain in the chest and relaxing blood-vessel spasm. Morphine apparently is the best drug for the pain, and of course it must be prescribed by a physician.

Another drug known as aminophyllin may be given by injection into a vein, and repeated the following day. This drug relieves blood-vessel spasm.

Still a third drug, atropine, may be given with the morphine to relieve the irritability of the heart.

Damages the Heart

Since an attack of coronary thrombosis damages the heart, rest in bed for at least three weeks is necessary so that healing may take place. At the end of the fourth week, the patient may be allowed to sit in a chair for a short period of time each day.

A diet supplying about 1200 calories a day is employed, and a preparation of mineral oil is used to insure soft bowel movements, which will avoid straining.

Breathing of Oxygen

The breathing of oxygen may be helpful in many instances to make breathing easier and lessen irritability and pain. One of the best methods of giving the oxygen is through a tube passed into the nose. If the patient can relax in an oxygen tent, one may be employed.

In no disease is the cooperation of the patient more necessary than in coronary thrombosis. Thus, when he leaves the hospital, his doctor explains to him that he must not engage in any activity that will put a strain on his heart. Whenever he feels himself beginning to tire, he will stop whatever he is doing at once. Then, too, he may be advised to use no tobacco for a year and to return to light work only in four to six months.

ORCHIDS for Mother

CHAPTER NINETEEN

IT WAS a handsome car, a 1947 model, of course—Mrs. Dillingham would know how to possess herself of a 1947 model car, no matter who else might find it difficult. A middle-aged man in a well-tailored uniform stood holding the door for Karen and her mother.

"Good afternoon, Miss Prentice," he said, and his eyes had a slightly dazed look as they took in her garb.

"Good afternoon, Martin. You're looking fit," said Gail cheerfully.

The chauffeur struggled to keep the shock out of his eyes at sight of her and swallowed before he answered, "Thank you, miss."

Gail stood at the edge of the drive as the big car slid backward down to the highway before it could find room to turn. When she had seen the last of its gleaming new paint and shining trim, she turned back to the house where Kate stood on the steps watching her unweary.

"I'm afraid they were a little distressed Gail," she said hesitantly.

Gail laughed. "They were shocked to the socks," she answered cheerfully. "It will do them good, though."

"But, Gail, they probably think we're mistreating you," Kate pointed out quietly, and there was honest distress in her kind eyes.

In swift compunction, Gail came to the steps and dropped down, hugging her knees in her bare brown arms.

"There's that, of course," she admitted. "But, Kate, what they think isn't terribly important, is it?"

"Isn't it?" "Not to me," Gail confessed. "And that's a little queer, I suppose. A few months ago, Karen's opinion, Mrs. Dillingham's—"

"I was scared to death I'd do something they would disapprove. I walked in fear and trembling of shocking or upsetting people like that. I felt—well, dependent on their good will, I suppose. But now it just seems amusing to me. That's funny, isn't it?"

"But your mother, Gail?" Kate suggested quietly.

Gail sobered and her eyes were, for the first moment, a little troubled. "Ye-e-es, I suppose Lissa would find a couple of fits," she admitted. "Lissa thinks the Dillinghams are terribly important. They are so terribly rich and so generous with their invitations—though Mrs. Dillingham and Lissa are not particularly fond of each other. But Lissa always reminds me that the Dillinghams can always be counted on for an invitation when the going gets rough."

She looked up at Kate and now a deep flush stained her brown, slightly grubby face and her eyes were embarrassed.

"That sounds pretty rotten, doesn't it? Though I never thought it was before," she confessed awkwardly. "We—Lissa and I—have always counted our friends from the standpoint of people we could go and visit when we were unusually hard up."

Kate said nothing, but her eyes were warm and there was something very like pity in their depths. Gail was not conscious of the pity. She was searching her own mind, her own heart, putting into words things she might never have said to one less kind, less understanding than Kate.

"D'you know, this is the first time in all my life that I've felt secure, wanted," she admitted, with what seemed to Kate an almost terrible honesty. "I feel I'm not exactly a burden; as though I've worked very hard and did my best. I might almost be worth my salt. That's a pretty comforting feeling."

She looked up at Kate and said quietly, "Maybe I'm beginning to feel the stirring of a desire to be independent. Could you believe it, Kate?"

"Easily," said Kate warmly. "Thanks," said Gail gratefully, and once more her eyes turned to the shadows of the giant trees that lay heavy in the setting sun above the small, dark red fragrant roses.

"Lissa is a lovely person. Gay and completely charming; the perfect house guest. She can always be counted on to make any sort of party go. And people are always glad to have her. You mustn't think that she is a bore or that she forces herself on people. She's not like that at all—truly she isn't."

"I'm sure she isn't," said Kate comfortably.

"It's just that—well, she's never known how to be poor," Gail went on slowly, trying very hard to make her gay, lovely mother seem as real and understandable to Kate as to herself. "She never makes the mistake of monopolizing the attractive men; she doesn't mind entertaining the bores, the important men that hostesses feel must be kept in a good humor and that others don't like to bother with. Of course, it isn't Lissa's fault that all the men at a party sort of gravitate toward her, but the other women seem to understand that too, so it never makes hard feelings. Lissa has always taught me that professional house guests can't afford to antagonize a hostess."

She looked up swiftly as though she had said more than she meant to, and once more the color stained her cheeks.

"I'm making her sound like a terrible person, and she isn't, Kate—truly she isn't," she burst out impulsively.

"Of course she isn't," said Kate swiftly, and smiled warmly down at her. "She couldn't be and have a daughter like you."

Gail beamed at her radiantly. "Thanks, Kate. You're a swell!" she said unthinkingly, and blinked hard and sprang to her feet. "The others are coming. I suppose it's too late to go back to work, so I'll get cleaned up and then help with supper."

She went quickly into the house and Kate sat on alone on the veranda, watching Charles, Nora and Greg come wearily up the road. Greg was leading the faithful, patient mule who had plowed all day; all of them, the three humans and the animal, walked with the drooping fatigue of hard labor patiently endured for long, hot hours, and Kate, remembering Charles as she had first known him, gay and debonair and younger than his actual years, felt the old accustomed ache of pity in her heart. Pity that she hid from him with all the skill of her love; pity that she would not offer him because it would be humiliating beyond endurance. She knew a small throb of wonder that Charles could be honestly happy despite the abject poverty of their lives; and the knowledge of his courage and strength of character that had made these bitter years bearable for both of them, strengthened her own courage and made her smile gaily as she rose to greet them.

"It's a sin and a shame," Greg was declaiming dramatically as they reached the house, "that a man can't come home from an honest day of toil without running the risk of being knocked galley-west by a car like that! Where do people get such cars, anyway?"

"A big Cadillac, all shining new!" asked Kate. "Did you see it?"

"Only just," said Greg grimly. "I made the ditch with Mabel just in time to keep from being mowed down. Why? Did the car stop here?"

Kate nodded. "They were friends of Gail," she answered. "They stopped to invite her to go home with them—New York first, and then Maine for the summer."

The others stared at her, and Kate saw Charles' tired face fall a little. But it was Greg who spoke.

"So the duchess is busily packing her belongings preparatory to waving a gay goodbye," he said dryly.

"She declined the invitation—without too many thanks," said Kate, her eyes on Charles. "She assured them that she was happier here than she had ever been in her life, and that she'd like to stay here the balance of her life—with her father, who, she said, was 'perfectly swell.'"

Her heart lifted a little at the delight that Charles made no effort to conceal.

"Did she really say that? Well, bless the child," he said happily. "Nora said unthinkingly, 'But, gosh, people with a car like that! They must be scandalously rich.'"

"Oh, that's probably the old third-best car they just use for rough roads. Undoubtedly there are more in the garage at home," Greg said dryly, and went on around the house toward the stable to put Mabel to bed for the day and see that she had the generous supper her hard work deserved.

STARS SAY—

For Saturday, September 13

A SUDDEN and quite unanticipated turn in the wheel of fortune should be the means of culminating in a surprise move on the road to progress, prosperity, promotion and many phases of gratification and enjoyment. The personal factor is to the fore. It might be that a romantic adventure, a new attachment or the intervention of a knowing and kindly relative may occur. In any case the romantic, family and social activities prevail.

Those whose birthday it is may prepare for a year of abrupt and dramatically welcome intervention in a state of congestion or defeat, a sudden move of force and decision being the lever to spur into high action progress, prosperity, with possibility of advancement, preferment or an exceptional gesture of friendliness. The romantic and sentimental values may crown not only thrilling experiences but assist in placing uncertain conditions on a lucrative and pleasant basis. Seek such cordial relations with confidence and appreciation. Festivities are in the offing, social and professional.

A child born on this day is endowed with the skill, talents and ingenuity to create for itself an honored, lucrative and pleasant spot—probably in the limelight.

For Sunday, September 14

SUNDAY'S horoscope holds augury for an extremely lively and pleasant day, with all affairs stimulated to unusual excitement and gay performance. All manner of parties, celebrations, functions and festivities are on the tapis, with the affectional, domestic, romantic and spiritual forces and faculties reflecting glamor, beauty, charm and noble aspiration, possibly in a religious ceremony or sentimental anniversary. Promotion, honors, compensation for fine work or friendly attitudes are in the air.

On the Birthday Those whose birthday it is day at 7:30 p. m. in the Trustee's room of Memorial hall.

Miss Elizabeth Bell and Kendall May left Monday for Wooster, where they will enroll as students at Wooster College.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

"The Authority on Authorities"

IMPROVE YOUR CHANCES

WHENEVER you can find a way to try a possible squeeze or throw-in play and still preserve your chances to take a particular finesse, you are improving the percentage in your favor. The finesse may or may not work. It whereas the other effort may. It gives you two strings to your bow, or two barrels to your shotgun, instead of one.

South West North East
1 ♠ Pass 2 ♠ Pass
2 ♠ Pass 2 NT Pass
3 ♠ Pass 4 ♠ Pass

(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

As soon as South made the diamond rebid, indicating five cards at least in each of his two suits, North realized he had enough spades to support them, so went to game. He had confidence in South's play, and it proved justified.

West led his heart 5 to the K and A, and East returned the Q for South to ruff. Noting the assurance that South realized he could not afford to lose a trick in the minors, so he strove to avoid the club finesse if possible. He led his spade 4 to the 9 and East forced him again with the heart 9, cutting him to two trumps. He led to the diamond K, the spade 2 to the A, the diamond A and Q for club discards, then the diamond 10, covered by the J and ruffed by the spade 7. He now ruffed the heart 8 with his last trump and mused that he had now seen all the defending cards except five clubs and the spade K.

Retaining the two clubs and discarding 9 and the dummy three cards, he led the diamond, discarding the club 7. He knew somebody would ruff that and return a club. If it was West, he would have to put in the Q as a finesse. But East ruffed the diamond and had to pitch into the club A-Q, giving South his contract, though the finesse would have failed.

Note that West could have beaten him, by playing his Q on the first spade lead, then shifting to a club, compelling South to try the finesse.

Your Week-End Question
As between two unbalanced pairs, a couple of timid bidders against two venturesome overbidders—what kind of factors determine the way they make out?

YOU'RE TELLING ME!

Title of an English movie was changed for fear Americans wouldn't know the meaning of "rake" (not the garden variety). We do too know! A rake is an adult heel who has passed his exams as a cad and is now studying to be a jerk.

Some day, says an item, weather will be controlled. And if we don't like it, who do we write to—our congressman?

News that the Revolutionary war huts in Valley Forge are to be restored causes Nervous Nellie to quaver that she didn't know we were again having trouble with the British.

Inside WASHINGTON

Marines Now Fear Merger | Congressmen Control Fate
May Submerge the Corps | Of 400,000 European DPs

Special to Central Press

WASHINGTON—Don't look now, but all is not spit and polish and beer and skittles with the Marine Corps, despite the fact Navy Secretary James Forrestal has been designated the nation's first secretary of defense.

There still is widespread resentment among the "leatherneck brass" and the enlisted men, too, over the merger law. They feel that the corps, famed offensive unit for a century and a half, will lose its identity.

The new organization gives the Marine Corps control over its amphibious operations. However, the feeling prevails that the Navy will be completely subservient to the Army on the books of the Independent Air Force, which is reported to be headed for domination by Army men.

DP QUESTION—The fate of some 400,000 European refugees rests in good part in the hands of a small group of congressmen.

These men, representing the Senate and House judiciary subcommittees on immigration, are visiting displaced persons camps in Germany and Austria during the current recess of Congress.

Their decision will go far toward determining whether Congress will accede to the request of President Truman that they be permitted to enter the United States.

The House subcommittee held public hearings during the last session on the Stratton Bill, which would admit 100,000 refugees

OHIO HISTORY STUDIED BY CLUB MEMBERS

Members of the Past Presidents Club of Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War held their September meeting Friday evening in the home of Mrs. Christian Palm, East
High street.

Mrs. O. C. King, senior vice-president, presided for the meeting in the absence of Mrs.
Frank Webbe, president. Group opened the meeting by repeating in unison the pledge of allegiance to the flag. Business session was brought to a close as the members repeated the Lord's prayer.

In continuation of the study of Ohio an article on "Ohio's First Churches" was presented by Mrs. E. S. Neuding. It was learned that the Moravian missionaries built for the Indians the first church in Ohio at Schoenbrunn in 1772.

The first Methodist church in Ohio was a log building at Morres Chapel, near Blue Greek in Adams county. It was built in the years 1800 and 1801.
The first Presbyterian church was erected in 1797 on the banks of the Scioto river at Chillicothe.
A replica stands 12 miles South of Chillicothe, in Scioto Trail forest.

Mrs. King gave an informative talk on the Taft Art museum in Cincinnati. She also conducted a contest on the names of the county seats of Ohio. Mrs. James S. Carpenter won the contest. Mrs. James Trimmer read an article on "Oil Fields." Miss Adah Hammel read "Various Canals," and Mrs. W. E. Pickens read "A Declaration of Independence in Ohio" written by Clement L.
Martzoff.

Mrs. Palm assisted by her daughters, Miss Nellie Palm and Mrs. Irene Jenkins served a dessert course during the social hours. Early Autumn garden flowers were used to decorate the hostesses' home.

Next meeting will be October
10, in the home of Mrs. Neuding on East Main street.

In arranging your furniture, make sure your end tables are the height of the arm of the chair or sofa beside them. The coffee table should be an inch lower than the seat.

WATERMELON PICKLE A NICE 'GUEST' TOUCH

By BETTY NEWTON

WATERMELON RIND PICKLE

2 lb. (6 to 8 c.) prepared watermelon rind; 4 c. sugar; 2 c. vinegar; 1 lemon, sliced thin; 1 tsp. stick cinnamon; 1 tsp. whole cloves; 2 c. water.

Cut the hard green skin from watermelon rind, trim off most of the red, and cut into pieces, cubes, or thin slices if you prefer. Soak overnight in a brine to cover rind well, using 1/2 c. salt to each quart of water. In the morning drain off salt water and wash rind in fresh water; drain. Cover again with clear water, heat to boiling and cook gently until rind is tender, from one and one-half hours to two.

Sterilize jars, using small jars, as watermelon rind pickle is not served in large amounts. Measure sugar into preserving kettle, add vinegar, water, lemon sliced thin, with rind. Tie spices loosely in small bag and put into syrup. When rind is tender, drain off water. Heat syrup to boiling and boil 5 minutes. Add rind carefully and slowly, taking care that it does not cause syrup to slop over kettle. Cook quickly in syrup until rind is clear and syrup thick.

Remove spice bag, pack rind into jars, using a perforated spoon for lifting it out. Cover with boiling syrup and seal tightly. This amount fills from 3 to 4 half-pint jars.

OHIO HISTORY STUDIED BY CLUB MEMBERS

Members of the Past Presidents Club of Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War held their September meeting Friday evening in the home of Mrs. Christian Palm, East High street.

Mrs. O. C. King, senior vice-president, presided for the meeting in the absence of Mrs. Frank Webbe, president. Group opened the meeting by repeating in unison the pledge of allegiance to the flag. Business session was brought to a close as the members repeated the Lord's prayer.

In continuation of the study of Ohio an article on "Ohio's First Churches" was presented by Mrs. E. S. Neuding. It was learned that the Moravian missionaries built for the Indians the first church in Ohio at Schoenbrunn in 1772.

The first Methodist church in Ohio was a log building at Morres Chapel, near Blue Creek in Adams county. It was built in the years 1800 and 1801. The first Presbyterian church was erected in 1797 on the banks of the Scioto river at Chillicothe. A replica stands 12 miles South of Chillicothe, in Scioto Trail forest.

Mrs. King gave an informative talk on the Taft Art museum in Cincinnati. She also conducted a contest on the names of the county seats of Ohio.

Mrs. James S. Carpenter won the contest. Mrs. James Trimmer read an article on "Oil Fields." Miss Adah Hammel read "Various Canals," and Mrs. W. E. Pickens read "A Declaration of Independence in Ohio" written by Clement L. Martzolf.

Mrs. Palm assisted by her daughters, Miss Nellie Palm and Mrs. Irene Jenkins served a dessert course during the social hours. Early Autumn garden flowers were used to decorate the hostesses' home.

Next meeting will be October 10, in the home of Mrs. Neuding on East Main street.

You are strong and robust and love all outdoor sports. You work and play with equal strength and strive always to excel in whatever you do. You are amiable, generous, gracious, discreet and have the confidence of your associates. If you marry young, you will be very happy. You are loving and sympathetic. Your birthday will be good in regard to joint finances, and also those of another. You will experience much good fortune and happiness in your next 12 months, the latter provided unwise romance is eschewed. Young friends and associates will greatly help you, and substantial monetary benefits are presaged. A child born on this date will be industrious, independent, optimistic, enthusiastic, sympathetic, refined, fond of and clever in the arts, and fortunate, although minor disappointment in love is threatened.

Circleville Library Resumes Winter Schedule On Monday

EASY BOOKS FOR CHILDREN, NEW FICTION READY

Many Types Of Literature Available As Public Resumes Reading

By ENID DENHAM
City Librarian

Circleville Public Library will resume its winter schedule of hours beginning Monday, September 15. Hours of opening will be from 9 a. m. to 8 p. m. Monday through Saturdays.

This date will coincide with the opening of the city schools. Library cards held in the file all Summer will be asked for again, and small voices will ask "I quit, can I start again?" Many of the children have been Summer readers, and to them, the trip to the library is often a weekly event.

There will be many readers and picture books for the children not yet able to master reading, easy books for those who wish to renew acquaintance with books slowly. Books for all grades and ages, from the picture conscious child through high school, will be available.

BECAUSE of the great demand and interest in horses, there are two cases of books for all ages of horse and dog stories, so that the animal fan may find his own taste and reading level easily.

The library also has a set of the Encyclopedia Britannica World's Children Series and Nature Series with their beautifully executed photographs. "Sanford Tourney's Bill and the Circus," H. A. Rey's "Curious George takes a job" (you all remember Curious George, don't you) "Oley, the sea monster," by Ets, "Mystery of the Chimney," by Orton for the young mystery lover, "Jean of Manila" by McSwigan, whose "Snow Treasure," the children read and enjoyed, "Story of Christina," by Hope Newell, "Disappearing Dolls," by Margaret Simmons, "Rosanna," by Kiser and "Red Treasure," an adventure story for older boys, Disney's "Brer Rabbit rides the Fox," "Betsy and the Proud House," by Urnston, "Brass Keys of Kenwick," by Seaman, "Racing under the Sail," by Kelsey, Brown's "Bad Little Duckhunter," "Bambino, the Clown," by Schreiber.

Among the adult readers, the "Vixens," by Yerby is still in first place in circulation, with "Prince of Foxes," by Shellabarger a close second. Hobson's Smart's "Sassafras Hill," Williams' "House Divided," Houston's "Great Promise," and Janney's "Miracle of the Bells" are among the most sought after books.

With the Fall season and the resumption of the literary activities of clubs, more reference material is being asked for and magazines and pamphlets are taken home for papers and discussions, a request for material on booth decoration for the county fair was taken care of, training for athletics, hayfever and kindred allergies, recipes using corn, and preparation for Fall planting of bulbs, are but a few of the topics handled by the staff at the library.

ASHVILLE

Mrs. C. W. Millar, Carnegie, Pennsylvania, is visiting with her sisters Mrs. Dells Davis and Mrs. Flora McLellan, 97 Cromley Street, Ashville.

New library hours for the Ashville branch library have been announced as follows: Tuesday and Thursdays, 4:00 to 8:00 p. m. and Saturdays, 2:00 to 9:00 p. m. Patrons are asked to please observe these hours. A nice selection of books has been placed in Ashville by the Circleville library and more local folk are invited to take advantage of the opportunity of borrowing good reading material.

Mrs. Sadie M. Palm has purchased the Harry Wellington, Jr. dwelling at 85 Cromley Street and plans to move there in the near future. Mr. and Mrs. Wellington, Patricia and Donna Jean, have moved to their newly purchased home on Park Place, Circleville.

Charles Wellington plans to make his home with his sister, Mrs. Daisy Cady, Columbus, in the near future.

Mr. and Mrs. Gervaise Peters, Delaware, Miss Ruth Courtwright, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rife, Jr., Columbus, and Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Courtwright, Mrs. J. E. Courtwright, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Robert Courtwright, Miss Caroline Courtwright, and Miss Helen Irwin, Ashville, attended the commencement exercises of the Lancaster municipal hospital, held at St. Peter's Lutheran church, Lancaster, Thursday evening. Miss Barbara Courtwright was one of 14 nurses graduating. Following the exercises, a reception for relatives and friends was held in the nurses' home.

Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Ricketts, Laurelville, visited Friday with Mr. and Mrs. Paul Smith and family 200 West Main Street.

Friday evening, Mr. and Mrs. George Kuhlwein, Sr. entertained the rehearsal party for the Kuhlwein-Griffith wedding, held Saturday afternoon.

A street carnival and homecoming celebration will be held on the village streets Wednesday through Saturday September 17-20.

Prizes for the Ashville Corn Show will be awarded for the best single ear, best ten ears, and longest ear of corn entered. Ladies are invited to enter their favorite cakes in the baked goods show with prizes awarded to all entrants. A "White Elephant" sale will be held on the street Saturday afternoon. Anyone having articles for sale should contact Earl Boyer. A

SCIENTISTS TO STUDY EFFECTS OF ATOM POWER

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13—The atomic energy commission put seven distinguished medical and biological scientists to work uncovering the aids and dangers to national health inherent in atomic fission.

The new AEC advisory committee for biology and medicine will decide general policy on these important phases of the atomic energy program:

1. Research on possible hazards to health connected with the research development and production of atomic materials for war and civilian use.
2. Development of protection of the civilian population in case of war.
3. Disposition of the five million dollars congress has authorized the commission to spend on cancer research during the fiscal year 1948.
4. Distribution of radio-active isotopes, the so-called "disease tracers," to experimenters in this country and abroad.
5. Publication of scientific papers and fellowships for study in the field of radiation effects.

MARRIAGE LICENSE

Marriage license was granted Friday in Pickaway county probate court to Robert Creighton Owens, 26, student, 139 East Corwin street, and Frances Elizabeth Sapp, typist, 136 West Mill street. A license was issued Thursday to Francis Lee Thompson, 23, electrician, Route 3, Circleville, and Doris Jean Hendricks, telephone operator, Circleville.

After catching a fish, the coronant must bring it to the surface before swallowing it. This has led fishermen in India and China to train them for fishing. A collar is put around the bird's neck which prevents his swallowing the fish.

M'CLOY URGES EUROPE TO USE IDLE MANPOWER

LONDON, Sept. 13—John J. McCloy, American president of the world bank, called on Europe to put its idle and unproductive manpower to work in the vast task of reconstruction.

He assailed the "large pools of manpower which either are employed in non-productive pursuits or are not employed at all" in DP camps, armies, munition factories and swollen governmental establishments.

McCloy made his criticism in a report to representatives of 45 nations, including the United States, attending the second annual meeting of the international monetary fund and international bank for reconstruction and development.

To alleviate the manpower crisis, McCloy also suggested permitting surplus German and Italian workers to immigrate voluntarily to labor shortage nations.

Other major bottlenecks impeding European reconstruction, he asserted, are food and fuel.

PLAN TO KILL STORMS NOT QUITE READY TO USE

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., Sept. 13—A joint armed forces and scientific team rushed preparations today to try to "kill" future hurricanes with an aerial bombardment of dry ice but said the current storm came too soon for the experiment.

The sensational attack against the ravages of nature might have been ready to put into operation had the present West Indies storm been delayed for only as much as a week or ten days.

GOT YOUR SHARE?

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13—The treasury announced today that more money is being put into circulation again and there is enough for each man, woman, and child in the United States to have $197.69. Money in circulation now totals $28,481,092,616 and is $2.19 above the per capita level of August.

COULD YOU EVER FORGET?

The way ahead seemed clear. In a moment of careless relaxation the driver swung his eyes from the road. In that same moment a ball bounced into the street — after it ran a little child. It was only a brief moment, but long enough for a lifetime of regret.

Last year more than 3,500 American children under the age of 14 were killed by automobiles, 160,000 were injured. This State, in some degree, contributed to that toll.

With school days here again, child casualties will rise unless every individual driver makes it his self-appointed responsibility to safeguard these young lives from harm.

When driving through school zones—and streets where children are at play—use extreme caution. Always be ready for split-second action, even though moving at moderate speed. Anticipate the unexpected.

There's no indemnity that can restore a human life. If, because of one careless act of yours, a child died or its young body were maimed—could you ever forget?

Circleville Library Resumes Winter Schedule On Monday

EASY BOOKS FOR CHILDREN, NEW FICTION READY

Many Types Of Literature Available As Public Resumes Reading

By ENID DENHAM
City Librarian

Circleville Public Library will resume its winter schedule of hours beginning Monday, September 15. Hours of opening will be from 9 a. m. to 8 p. m. Mondays through Saturdays.

This date will coincide with the opening of the city schools. Library cards held in the file all summer will be asked for again, and small voices will ask "I quit, can I start again?" Many of the children have been summer readers, and to them, the trip to the library is often a weekly event.

There will be many readers and picture books for the children not yet able to master reading, easy books for those who wish to renew acquaintance with books slowly. Books for all grades and ages, from the picture conscious child through high school, will be available.

BECAUSE of the great demand and interest in horses, there are two cases of books for all ages of horse and dog stories, so that the animal fan may find his own taste and reading level easily.

The library also has a set of the Encyclopedia Britannica World's Children Series and Nature Series with their beautifully executed photographs, "Sanford Tousey's Bill and the Circus," H. A. Rey's "Curious George takes a job" (you all remember Curious George, don't you) "Oley, the sea monster," by Ets, "Mystery of the Chimney," by Orton for the young mystery lover, "Jean of Manila" by McSwigan, whose "Snow Treasure," the children read and enjoyed, "Story of Christina," by Hope Newell, "Disappearing Dolls," by Margaret Simmons, "Rosanna," by Kiser and "Red Treasure," an adventure story for older boys. Disney's "Brer Rabbit rides the Fox," "Betsy and the Proud House," by Urnston, "Brass Keys of Kenwick," by Seaman, "Racing under the Sail," by Kelsey, Brown's "Bad Little Duckhunter," "Bambino, the Clown," by Schreiber.

Among the adult readers, the "Vixens," by Yerby is still in first place in circulation, with "Prince of Foxes," by Shellabarger a close second. Hobson's Smart's "Sassafras Hill," Williams' "House Divided," Houston's "Great Promise," and Janney's "Miracle of the Bells" are among the most sought after books.

With the Fall season and the resumption of the literary activities of clubs, more reference material is being asked for and magazines and pamphlets are taken home for papers and discussions, a request for material on booth decoration for the county fair was taken care of, training for athletics, hayfever and kindred allergies, recipes using corn, and preparation for Fall planting of bulbs, are but a few of the topics handled by the staff at the library.
